2009-10 marked a quarter century of grantmaking for the Charles H. Dater Foundation. Over $31 million in grants have been distributed since the first grant was awarded in 1985.

The Foundation made 114 grants totaling $1,508,169 in the grant/fiscal year (September 2009 to August 2010). Grants ranged from $1,000 to $132,500. The median grant was $10,000 and the average grant was $13,229. Almost 2,000 grants have been awarded to nearly 400 organizations over the last twenty-five years.

After awarding more than $2 million in grants for three straight years, the Foundation's grantmaking declined in 2009-10, a reflection the economy's impact on its investments and asset base ($36 million in August 2010). The Foundation does not generate revenues through programs or gifts, so its grantmaking is tied to investment performance. After making grants to an average of 20 new organizations in the prior three years, grants were made to only four new grantees in 2009-10. The focus narrowed to providing continuing, though frequently reduced, support to prior grant re-ipients. Grant applicants were encouraged to examine their own operations, focus on programs providing the most impact, and consider eliminating marginal programs.

The Foundation continued its commitment to promote its grant recipients and encouraged them to leverage their Dater Foundation grant as well. The Foundation's web site featured success stories and photos from grant recipients, helping further spread the word about the good work being done at these non-profit organizations. News releases announcing new grants were posted regularly. Foundation grants to Cincinnati Public Radio and CET (WCET-TV) provided an opportunity to use broadcast announcements to salute grant recipients, thereby helping them increase their visibility and attract additional support.

The Foundation devoted extensive time to researching new grantmaking software. Several grantees beta-tested the new system and made suggestions. In August of 2010, a new web-based MicroEdge program was introduced that allows grant applicants to submit online grant applications and grant evaluation reports, including attached documents. A Preliminary Grant Proposal process remains in place for grant seekers to get preliminary feedback about a request lest they spend undo time on a formal application not likely to be approved. Initial reaction is that the new online process is saving grant applicants significant time and expense. The Foundation's web site features detailed information about its grantmaking process.

The Foundation is committed to Enriching the Lives of Children. Its mission: to make grants to nonprofit organizations in the Greater Cincinnati area to carry out projects and programs that benefit children and focus in the areas of arts/culture, education, healthcare, social services and other community needs.

Businessman and philanthropist Charles H. Dater (1912-1993), a fourth generation Cincinnati, established the Foundation in 1985 to ensure that funding for worthwhile community programs would continue after his death. The Foundation honors the memory and preserves the philanthropic commitment of Charles and his ancestors, whose hard work and business acumen over 150 years provided them with the opportunity to share their success with their community.

Directors and officers play an active role in the work of the Foundation, which has no full-time staff members. They perform the work of staff, reviewing hundreds of grant requests each year. They make site visits to current and potential grant recipients, monitor how grant dollars are being spent, and seek new grant applicants whose goals coincide with those of the Foundation.

Grant Recipient Profiles

The Foundation welcomes the opportunity to salute the good work being done by the nonprofit organizations that received grants in 2009-10. Profiles on the following pages provide information about each grant recipient, the project funded by the Foundation, and the impact being made. Most organizations have web sites that provide more information about their activities.

A Kid Again - $10,000

Children with life threatening illnesses are the focus of A Kid Again, which provides joy to children and healing times of respite for parents through group activities and destination events. These “adventures” offer children, siblings and parents a cost-free occasion to enjoy quality time together and to create lasting memories. A volunteer network and donor support are key to the organization’s success. A Dater grant helped fund a holiday party adventure for over 550 local children with life threatening illnesses and their families. The festivities included a traditional holiday feast, arts & crafts, games, pictures with Santa and gifts for each sick child and his or her siblings.

American Cancer Society - $5,000

The American Cancer Society is a community-based health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem. As part of its mission to eliminate barriers to quality health care, the organization operates the Musekamp Family Hope Lodge, a 22-guest room facility providing free lodging to patients undergoing treatment in Cincinnati. A Dater grant helped to provide 210 patients and 457 caregivers with 2,542 nights of lodging, making Hope Lodge their “home away from home” during their cancer journey. The lodge supports patients not only by lessening the economic hardship that families endure, but also by providing services to patients that enable them to follow treatment protocols and by providing an environment for patients and caregivers to connect and share their experience with others.

American Diabetes Association - $10,000

The American Diabetes Association makes an everyday difference in the quality of life for all people with diabetes by funding diabetes research programs and providing education and advocacy efforts. The Camp Korelitz program gives children living with diabetes the opportunity to meet and learn from adult counselors and other children with diabetes who have gone through many of the same experiences, and to share the ways they cope with the disease. Both children and their parents say one of the greatest benefits of attending diabetes camp is feeling part of a group. Families are often faced with financial hardship in order to keep their children with diabetes alive and well. Thirty disadvantaged children received camp scholarships funded by a Dater Foundation grant.

The Arc Hamilton County - $5,000

Since 1946, The Arc Hamilton County has advocated for the rights and full participation of all people with intellectual and developmental disabilities through targeted services: Individual & Family Advocacy, Systems Change Efforts, and Targeted Legislative Initiatives. When parents learn their child has a disability they seek help to meet unexpected and ongoing emotional and financial challenges. They seek trustworthy information to adapt family life to care for and parent their child. The Families Empowering Children program connects parents with families who have gone before them. The program also works with other agencies to present workshops to hundreds of parents on key strategies and values for raising children with developmental disabilities.

Arthritis Foundation Ohio River Valley Chapter - $5,000

The Arthritis Foundation is committed to seeking the causes, prevention and cure for the more than 100 forms of arthritis in children and adults. The Juvenile Arthritis Alliance, the arm of the Foundation serving children and families, presented its Fall Family Camp at Joy Outdoor Education Center. Children with juvenile arthritis and their families teamed up with other families to work cooperatively to face challenges and to learn new strategies for developing social competence while coping with chronic disease. Eighty children, families, volunteers and staff participated in the two-day program.

Art Links is committed to the concept that art is a basic component to all learning and every child must be given the opportunity to explore the arts. Art Links' single purpose is making the arts a reality in the lives of disadvantaged children. Through the Adopt-A-School program, 10 arts organizations from the community were paired with classroom teachers in 10 economically-disadvantaged schools to prepare and present arts integrated lesson plans. This program, supported by a Dater grant, enriched and transformed the lives of hundreds of disadvantaged school children across the tri-state area.

Assistance League of Greater Cincinnati - $30,000

The volunteer-driven Assistance League works to meet critical needs of children and adults by identifying, developing, implementing and funding community programs. The Greater Cincinnati chapter operates Operation School Bell, purchasing new fleece jackets, pants, belts, shirts, shoes, underwear, socks, hygiene items and duffel bags. The back-to-school supplies are provided to students in 30 public and parochial schools who have been identified by school officials as children in need. Over 1,600 children benefitted from this program locally last year. The Dater Foundation has supported Operation School Bell since 1999. In 2008, Assistance League was recognized with the National School Bell Award.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Greater Cincinnati - $10,000

The BBBS mission is to provide children facing adversity with strong and enduring, professionally supported one-to-one relationships that change their lives for the better, forever. Unfortunately there are more children seeking mentors than BBBS volunteers, and the children who need help the most are often the most difficult to reach. To broaden its reach into neighborhoods with historically high crime rates, BBBS has established its school-based mentoring program funded partially by a Dater grant. Despite factors that put these 500 children at risk for engaging in negative and even criminal behavior, 99% remained in school, did not abuse drugs or alcohol, were not pregnant or parenting, and were not involved in the juvenile justice system.

Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Cincinnati - $10,000

Boys & Girls Clubs offers tested, proven, nationally recognized after-school and summer programs that provide youth with the knowledge and skills they need to pursue their dreams and succeed in adulthood. Each year, over 10,000 local youngsters ages 6-18 take part in educational, health, recreational and leadership development programs at 11 local club sites. A Dater grant supported Academic Success, an essential component of the Boys & Girls Club mission. Educational assistance was provided every day after school to urban core children in need of additional academic support. This program included access to tutoring, homework assistance, and supplemental educational services while integrating fun, age-appropriate educational activities throughout club programs.

Breakthrough Cincinnati - $10,000

A four-year academic enrichment program, Breakthrough Cincinnati provides free year-round support to high-potential, low-income middle school students from the under-resourced urban core of Cincinnati. Employing a unique “Students Teaching Students” model, Breakthrough Cincinnati also seeks to inspire, train and motivate talented high school and college students to pursue careers in education. A grant from the Dater Foundation supported the Summer Academic Session. For six weeks, 110 middle school students took core academic classes (English, foreign language, history, math and science) as well as electives and study skills from a faculty comprised of 30 high school and college students from across the city and country. Small class sizes ensure one-on-one attention from the teacher. Over 97% of Breakthrough students graduate from high school on time, with 85% choosing to continue their education at four-year colleges.

Childhood Food Solutions - $15,000

Childhood Food Solutions provides food to low-income children and uses academic improvement as its success indicator. Children who receive free or reduced-price school meals often encounter hunger on non-school days (187 days a year), especially when money runs out or is tight for low-income families at the end of the month. The late-December winter break brings two weeks during which hunger is likely. Dater grants funded winter break food sacks for over 1,000 elementary-age students in the low-income zip code 45225. During the program's first two years, students did much better in school and showed a 40% improvement in reading and math proficiency. About 140 children have advanced from “can’t read and/or can’t do math” to “can read and/or can do math.”

Children, Inc. - $15,000

Children, Inc. advances the success of children by partnering with families, professionals and the community through high impact programs, training, research and advocacy. Children, Inc.’s Service Learning program brings resources to teachers to help students perform better in school through experiential learning activities that also teach the importance of giving back. Since 2005, with the support of the Dater Foundation, this program has been growing steadily and by the end of the 2009-10 school year, more than 22,000 students had completed a service learning project. Last year, students raised over $110,000 for worthy causes including Haitian earthquake relief and the Freestore-Foodbank. This program is helping to change the schools in the community and works to get students involved and passionate about their education.

Incorporated in 1864, The Children’s Home transforms the lives of vulnerable children through education programs and mental health treatment services. Over 6,000 individuals were positively impacted through these services last year. A Dater grant supported Camp-I-Can, a 10-week summer day camp for children from low-income families who would not otherwise have access to high-quality, low-cost summer care. Camp-I-Can combines traditional summer activities (swimming, music, crafts, and field trips) with programs designed to enhance children’s physical fitness, self-esteem and social skills. About 100 campers participated and all reached their self-determined fitness goal.

Cincinnati Arts Association - $10,000, $5,000

CAA utilizes a multicultural, multi-disciplinary approach that brings arts education programs from around the world to area students through its SchoolTime program. Programs and workshops featuring local and regional artists are presented in local schools and designed to support academic curriculum while building the audiences of the future. A Dater grant supported CAA's Ticket & Transportation subsidy program which provided assistance to over 6,000 students attending the SchoolTime series; the Overture Academy, workshops and master classes for aspiring high school age artists through creation of an off-site workshop at Dixie High School; and after-school programming at both the School for Creative and Performing Arts and Carlisle Elementary in Covington was dramatically expanded. Another Dater grant supported Families Create, a series of Saturday morning workshops at the Weston Art Gallery in conjunction with the Taft Museum of Art designed to introduce art concepts to children and their parents.

CABVI's Music Program offered two special events sponsored by the Dater Foundation: the Hands-on Music Experience with Holly Pratt of Holly's Harps and the Annual CABVI Music Recital. The Music Recital offers the children an opportunity to share the skills they have acquired with an enthusiastic audience of family members and friends. The Music Program helps children gain skills, both musical and developmental. Some students grow into participation with community or school music groups. Braille music is provided for Braille readers. Home-based music therapy also enhances all aspects of learning development for families of very young children.

Cincinnati Ballet - $5,000

Education is an essential component of Cincinnati Ballet and reflects its mission: to inspire hope and joy in the community and beyond through the power and passion of dance. A Dater grant supported the CincyDance! program, a collaborative arts partnership with 16 programs in 13 area elementary schools across Greater Cincinnati. This flagship education and out-reach program provided free, long-term dance instruction to over 635 at-risk youth. The program gives underserved students an opportunity to become more physically fit, to set and achieve goals, and to build confidence and self-esteem. For some, it opens a door to become accomplished ballet dancers.

Cincinnati Nature Center - $15,000

Cincinnati Nature Center provides enriching experiences in nature for children in Greater Cincinnati. Its classroom is 1,600 acres of pristine forest, fields and streams, nestled in two locations, Milford, Ohio and Goshen, Ohio. Research shows that time outdoors is critical to a child's emotional, physical and cognitive development, but children today are spending less and less time in nature. A Dater grant supported NatureVersity, a program to instill the ethic of nature mentorship among adults and teachers who work with children to encourage more outdoor learning and experiences. Adults learn basic natural history, how to turn the outdoors into their own classroom, how to utilize inquiry-based learning techniques to inspire awe and curiosity within a child, and how to facilitate interaction with nature when working with larger groups of children.

Cincinnati Observatory Center - $5,000

The Cincinnati Observatory Center is one the most unique astronomical institutions in the United States. A fully functioning 19th century observatory, it has been used daily since 2000 and over 185,000 individuals have participated in programs to learn about astronomy, meteors, mythology, NASA discoveries and much more. By 2010, the demand for additional pre-K to 12th grade education exceeded what could be accomplished with a single Outreach Astronomer. A grant from the Dater Foundation helped meet a challenge grant to hire a second educator to help further STEM (Science Technology Engineering Math) education in area schools.

Cincinnati Public Radio - $20,000, $15,000

- WGUC's Classics for Kids introduces elementary school-aged children to classical music in a fun and entertaining way. Its multimedia components include a weekly radio broadcast, an interactive web site (www.classicsforkids) and curriculum materials. Support from the Dater Foundation has allowed for increased and enhanced online outreach. Composers can be explored through their country of origin, their musical era, and their place in history. Music comes to life through an archive of classical music examples, interviews with professional musicians, a diagram of an orchestra's instrument placement onstage, and web-only programs that describe classical music's eras.

- WVXU's Infomatters is an online destination for junior high and high school students at www.wvxu-infomatters.org. This dynamic source of in-depth information from local and national sources helps students dig deeper into current events to explore and understand the news of the day. The website also connects students to WVXU's weekly public affairs program, Impact Cincinnati, allowing them to pose questions to the experts and decision makers participating in each week's panel discussion. ### Cincinnati Recreation Commission Foundation - $5,000

Initiated by Cincinnati Recreation Commission staff in 1997, RiverTrek is a summer program of self-discovery designed to enhance the confidence, understanding and leadership skills of Cincinnati area youth and youth-at-risk through a 65-mile journey down the Little Miami River. RiverTrek participants re-envision themselves on neutral turf, away from the normal influences of their personal environment, so that they can practice making different choices in their lives while they are exposed to the natural world surrounding them. Many are new to the outdoors which makes their newly-acquired camping and canoeing skills all the more rewarding. Veteran participants serve as Peer Leaders and model behavior for newer RiverTrekkers. In 2010, 39 youth completed training and participated in the journey.

Cincinnati Scholarship Foundation - $50,000, $15,000

The Cincinnati Scholarship Foundation was established in 1918 to financially assist students in Cincinnati Public Schools in completing their high school education. College financial assistance was added in the 1920s and both programs remain in effect today. A Dater grant of $50,000 to the New Horizons Scholarship Fund provided renewable $2,500 annual scholarships to six 2010 graduates of Gilbert A. Dater High School and continued support of 14 previous Dater High scholarship recipients. The Dater scholarship recipients attended 10 different colleges and universities and had an average GPA of just slightly under 3.0. A $15,000 Dater Foundation grant supported 39 Dater High students through CSF's High School Scholarship Program, a comprehensive college access and awareness program for low income students in grades 7-12. Students receive a small monthly stipend for their grades as well as support to attend college access workshops, go on college visits, participate in tutoring services and more.

Cincinnati Therapeutic Riding and Horsemanship - $10,000

Cincinnati Therapeutic Riding and Horsemanship provides equine assisted activities and therapies for children and adults with disabilities. A Dater grant helped bring delightful, healing connections between a very patient horse and a very excited child or adult with special needs for a full year. The joy of being atop a moving horse, and directing and feeling the energy of the horse brings not just great happiness but also the physical, psychological and emotional benefits of therapeutic riding. Given that many families are already financially extended with medical and other treatment expenses, the "ridership" program subsidizes part or all of the cost for many youngsters. Volunteers donate over 3,000 hours each year to support the program.

The Coalition envisions that every child in the community grows up in an environment that is purposefully drug-free. Funding from the Dater Foundation supported implementation of a multi-faceted set of programs designed to engage all sectors of the community with the goal of preventing and reducing youth substance use. Structured initiatives bring together parents, media, schools, law enforcement, judges, health-care providers, employers, faith leaders, youth and others to exert their sphere of influence leading to sound decision-making by our youth. These partnerships and strategies contribute to fewer students in grades 7-12 using drugs and alcohol now than were using in 2000. Alcohol use is down 40%, tobacco use down 38% and marijuana use down 33%.

Community Meal Center - $8,500

Founded in 2001, Community Meal Center provides a safe, inviting, dignified haven where anyone in need can enjoy a hot, homemade meal. The focus is on meeting some of the social, physical and spiritual needs of the homeless, the working poor and the hungry. The Center “serves” an average of 500 meals on Friday evenings to guests who may have as many helpings as they want. On most Fridays, volunteer entertainers contribute their talents to the evening experience. Free haircuts, chair massages and manicures are sometimes offered. Most recently a new service was added with nurses offering free foot care to guests. A dedicated group of volunteer servers and cooks is made up of scout troops, college students, high school students, church members and often dinner guests of the Center. A Dater grant helped fund the purchase of food and supplies and covered almost half the organization's annual expenses.

Gilbert A. Dater High School - $5,000

Gilbert A. Dater High School is a 7-12 grade Cincinnati Public School that serves over 750 students. Entering high school can be a difficult transition, both academically and socially. A Dater grant funded the Momentum Summer Bridge program, which involved a partnership with the College of Mt. St. Joseph for students in grades 7-9. They were taught language arts and mathematics skills, provided lunch, and given opportunities for physical education/athletic activities over the course of three weeks. Participating students report less anxiety with course work as they started school, higher achievement on benchmark tests and class work, greater ease in making positive friendships, and more school pride. In addition, the program, which is hosted by the College of Mt. Saint Joseph, has increased young students' interest in pursuing post-secondary education.

Gilbert A. Dater Montessori - $10,000

Dater Montessori is one of the most comprehensive, child-centered learning environments in Cincinnati Public Schools. A Montessori environment is designed specifically to meet the needs of individual students. Grouped in multi-aged classroom communities, students work at their own pace and engage in standards-based work of their choosing. This approach fosters natural curiosity and helps to develop the independent work habits that lead to lifelong learning. Technology provides an important aid in this quest. A Dater Foundation grant provided upgrades to the school's computer lab. As technology increasingly becomes a vital part of daily life, students must be technologically competitive and use it routinely to support their education.

DSAGC has been supporting individuals with Down syndrome, their families and the community members who impact their lives since 1981. The mission is to empower individuals, educate families and enhance communities, and the belief is that people with Down syndrome benefit from loving homes, appropriate medical care, inclusive education and positive attitudes. Dater funding enabled the organization to ensure that physicians and healthcare providers who interact with local Down families are provided with the appropriate resources and referrals to share with their newly diagnosed patients. ### East End Adult Education Center - $10,000

The Center's focus is on using education to help at-risk individuals avoid a life of poverty. Some 175 students were served last year and 32 earned GEDs. Students ranged in age from 14 to 70 and all were at different levels of education ability. Every student who attended regularly improved his or her educational ability. The Center accommodates job schedules by offering day and night classes, and emphasizes to students that without a high school diploma or GED, few good career opportunities will be available. All students are from low economic families, where the path to economic independence is difficult. Many of the Center's students have dropped out of the regular school system due to learning disabilities, learning issues, health problems, and family problems. Helping them set reasonable goals and chart a course to reach those goals is part of the program.

The Economics Center has a 33-year history of training teachers, developing classroom materials, and revolutionizing economics and financial education learning for K-12 students. The Student Enterprise Program (StEP) is the Center's flagship vehicle for delivering standard academic instruction in application, project-based ways. Students earn school currency for attendance, good behavior and academic improvement. They hold "jobs," and earn, save and spend school currency. Classrooms start small businesses and many other ventures. At its core, StEP is a financial literacy program that engages students in some of the neediest schools in the Cincinnati region. This Dater grant funded the initial phase of StEP at Prince of Peace and Roselawn elementary schools and exposed students to the concepts of entrepreneurship, critical thinking, innovation, financial literacy and knowledge of economic principles.

Elder's tech-reach community outreach program works to empower the children, families, organizations and the community of Price Hill through technology education. Tech-reach served 164 children through one-on-one after-school math tutoring to children in grades 2-5. Of those participating, 88% showed improvement in their math skills. Young ladies in a neighboring girl's club enhanced their internet use skills and researched various girl topics through guided visits to special websites. Summer programs involved children in safe internet use, understanding computers, making videos and using photo-enhancing computer software to create artistic products. A tennis camp was held for 8-13 year olds. EMU provides hands-on environmental science programs to schoolchildren in Butler and Preble Counties. A Dater grant funded 90 "Unlocked Science" programs, enabling 2,000 students to explore their school grounds with a naturalist and discover the plants and animals living there. To help teachers continue to take students outdoors for science, eight schools were supplied with binoculars, field guides, collecting cups, hand lenses, and other tools. The children loved being real scientists, and teachers commented on the impact. "They (first graders) couldn't previously verbalize what was outside besides dirt, grass, and animals," said one. "With this activity they were able to be very descriptive with what is outside." Another said, "I liked how the children were careful to watch where they stepped so as not to disturb any creatures."

Franciscan Haircuts from the Heart - $6,000

In the early 1990s when Sister Bonnie Steinlage, a Franciscan Sister of the Poor, heard the Ash Wednesday gospel, “When you pray, wash your face and comb your hair,” she felt called to provide hair care to the poor and homeless. With the permission of her order, Sister Bonnie enrolled in cosmetology school and began providing hair care to the poor. In 1995, she opened a hair salon in Over-the-Rhine that continues to provide professional hair care to those in need. A Dater grant funded hair care services for 520 children from licensed hairstylists during 2009-10. Santa Maria is a 113-year-old human services organization in Price Hill which provides comprehensive support in the areas of child development/parenting, wellness, youth development and affordable housing. The Dater4Kids program included funding an outing to Cedar Point Amusement Park in Sandusky, Ohio for 22 Lower Price Hill youth. Half of the group earned the outing by significantly improving their school attendance, after having been referred by their school for chronic truancy problems. The other half earned the field trip by regularly attending a weekly Asset Builder's Group to learn ways to peacefully resolve conflict and resist negative peer pressure. Incentives like the Cedar Point outing provide rewards for youth who are willing to work to improve themselves, do better in school and improve their communities.

School House Symphony - $5,000

Since 1976, School House Symphony has presented imaginative multicultural music education programs to pre-school and elementary age children throughout Greater Cincinnati. These programs feature performances and discussions of music from different cultures and periods of time, including folk, jazz, classical and popular music. About 250 programs are presented annually in both public and private schools with a total attendance of 20,000 children. To ensure a relaxed atmosphere and "up close" experience, audience size for each performance is limited. A Dater grant enabled School House Symphony to keep its subscription price affordable.

Sisters of Notre Dame - $5,000

The Notre Dame Urban Education Center provides academic and enrichment opportunities for children, particularly in high-poverty and low-performing schools during non-school hours. Classes offer students one-on-one tutoring geared to individual strengths and weaknesses in core academic subjects, such as reading and mathematics. The Center offers enrichment activities that complement regular academic programs in collaboration with organizations like Kenton County Library and Carnegie Center for the Performing Arts. A Dater grant provided funding for the program's start-up and allowed NDUEC to work with students to increase core subject scores, continue to improve homework completion rates, increase parental involvement, provide emotional support when needed, and enhance creativity and instill a greater appreciation for the arts.

Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur - $10,000

The Ohio Province of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur is part of an international congregation founded by St. Julie Billiart in Amiens, France in 1804. Eight sisters arrived in Cincinnati from Belgium in 1840 to pursue a mission that remains unchanged today: commitment to education and the poor, especially women and children in the most abandoned places. A Dater grant helped leverage federal dollars through the AmeriCorps program and underwrite two mission volunteers assisting with the education of low-income children in the inner-city. The volunteers were able to touch the lives of children by improving their educational performance, by serving as successful role models, and by teaching important life skills.

SON Ministries - $15,000

SON Ministries is an Emergency Food Pantry located within Groesbeck United Methodist Church for those in need in the Northwest and North College Hill School Districts. Support of the ministry comes from several churches, schools, businesses, and individuals.

Through a Dater grant, 300 children received clothing and school supplies to begin the school year. A voucher system was used through Target to avoid misuse of funds. Many parents indicated they would have been unable to provide the bare necessities for their children without this program.

Starfire - $30,000

Starfire serves individuals with and without disabilities by hosting social activities and providing community service opportunities. Community Commitment is truly a win-win-win program. Starfire serves its “members” by providing service opportunities that allow them, despite the challenges of their own disabilities, to make a contribution to nonprofit organizations in the community and enjoy the self-esteem that comes from their giving. Other young people without disabilities work side-by-side with Starfire members, make friendships and gain an appreciation for what Starfire members are able to accomplish. And nonprofit organizations benefit from the 10,000 hours of volunteer work that is contributed. A Dater grant supports this program.

Stepping Stones Center - $10,000

Stepping Stones was founded in 1963 as Cincinnati’s first camp for children with disabilities. Today, the Center serves close to 1,000 children and adults with disabilities in year-round programming including preschool, autism education, respite, adult programs and day/residential camps. Programs further the mission to increase independence, improve lives and promote inclusion for children and adults with disabilities. Many participants have been turned away from other programs because of the severity of their disability. At Stepping Stones these children are welcomed and celebrated. A Dater grant supported the Early Childhood Education program, which assures that children with disabilities experience success and enter kindergarten with the strongest possible social, emotional and educational skills. The program helps working families on limited incomes meet their children’s developmental needs.

Taft Museum of Art - $35,000

A National Historic Landmark built in 1820, the Taft Museum of Art is home to an extensive art collection that makes it one of the finest small art museums in America. When Anna Sinton and Charles Phelps Taft began collecting works of art, they aimed to assemble a diverse collection of works from around the world and provide it for study to local Cincinnatians. Since 1932, the museum's primary mission has been to educate through its collections and community programs. Bringing art to the classroom through educator programs is a major focus. Funding from the Dater Foundation, including an earlier grant for the Charles H. Dater Education Room, supported educational outreach programming: children's theatre presentations in an intimate setting, art workshops for families, summer art day camp, free family day activities, and a multiple-contact, academic-year-long program for high school art students.

UC Med Mentors - $10,000

While pursuing their medical education and training, some 150 UC medical students have established one-on-one mentoring relationships with Cincinnati Public Schools students through the Med Mentors program. They regularly tutor the mentees and encourage them to excel academically. A Dater grant covered the cost of certain outings. Mentors and mentees baked cookies, decorated gingerbread houses and enjoyed the great outdoors at a picnic in the park. They bowled, played sports, enjoyed Graeter's ice cream, rode roller coasters, went to the theatre and encountered sharks at the Aquarium. Mentees were exposed to a myriad of experiences they would otherwise never have had the opportunity to enjoy, and mentors learned valuable lessons that would benefit them in their future medical careers.

Urban Health Project - $5,000

Urban Health Project educates, inspires and challenges medical students through their service to marginalized populations in Greater Cincinnati to become socially-responsible physicians. Founded in 1986 by medical students in the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, UHP is now an entirely student-run non-profit organization that places 25 medical students in internships with various nonprofit agencies each summer. UHP provides understaffed agencies with additional help and expertise at no cost to the agencies, while giving medical students the opportunity to learn about the many complex social factors that affect health in underserved populations. A Dater grant supported placement of two medical student interns who, along with their colleagues, provided over 9,000 hours of community service in the Greater Cincinnati area, affecting over 7,600 individuals.

Valley Interfaith Food & Clothing Center - $15,000

Valley Interfaith helps its neighbors in need by assisting residents in the surrounding 13 communities in the upper Mill Creek area with food, clothing and emergency financial assistance. With help from a Dater grant, Valley brought lots of smiles and sighs to many area students and their parents. Valley's Back-2-School program gave out 800 backpacks filled with school supplies, new shoes, and gently-used school clothes and/or uniforms. The program was staffed by volunteers, some of whom volunteered all five days. They ranged from high school and college students to empty nesters. This very worthwhile program builds self esteem by supplying children with tools they need to succeed.

Women's Art Club of Cincinnati Foundation - $3,000

Patchwork Kids is a summertime art program for children ages 4-14 in the Pendleton Area of Over the Rhine. It is an all-volunteer effort that includes Women's Art Club members, local artists and neighbors, and parents of the children. From late June to early August, children from the area gather on Pendleton Street each Friday morning for seven weeks. They are given sidewalk chalk, other supplies and an idea page so that they can draw on a patch of sidewalk. Their work is "judged" at the end of each session, and they can earn gift certificates for school supplies and school clothes. Prospective grant applicants are encouraged to carefully read the Grant Guidelines and Grant Request/Application sections, including the information about submitting an abbreviated preliminary letter. Information about past grants is located in a number of sections – News Releases, Annual Reports (PDFs of this publication from 2003-04 to 2009-10).

Grant Application Process

The Dater Foundation's online, web-based Grant Request/Application and Grant Evaluation Report process is designed to make grant seeking easier and more time efficient for nonprofit organizations.

A customized grant application format mirrors the Foundation's previous hard-copy format. Applicants are directed to fill in specific fields and upload certain documents. Additional documents (newsletters, news articles, annual reports, etc.) may be uploaded as well.

The "Grants" section of the Foundation's web site includes:

- Grant Guidelines
- Grant History
- Links to the online Grant Request/Application and Grant Evaluation Report sections

Grantmaking Focus, Process and Timing

The Foundation makes grants to private, nonprofit organizations and public agencies in Greater Cincinnati for programs that benefit children in the region in the areas of arts/culture, education, healthcare, social services and other community needs. Greater Cincinnati is defined as the eight-county area made up of the counties of Hamilton, Butler, Warren and Clermont in Ohio; Boone, Kenton and Campbell in Kentucky; and Dearborn in Indiana. The Foundation does not make grants to individuals, for scholarships for individuals, for debt reduction, and, with rare exception, for capital fund projects. Grants are usually made for one year and subsequent grants for an extended or ongoing program are based on an evaluation of annual results. Multiple grants to an organization in the Foundation's same fiscal year (September through August) are possible, but rare. The Foundation looks favorably on applications that leverage a grant to secure additional funding and resources.

Grant applicants are strongly urged to review the Grant Guidelines before initiating a grant application. This will help grant seekers better understand the Foundation's background and grantmaking priorities, thereby improving the likelihood of approval for some and saving valuable time for others whose application may not be consistent with the Foundation's grantmaking focus.

Applicants may want to consider submitting a brief "pre-application summary proposal." Details are in the Grants section of the Foundation's web site. The Grant Request/Application process requires about 60 days from the time an application is received until a grant request is approved or declined. Once an application is approved, funds are dispersed in about two weeks.

Charles H. Dater, 1912-1993

Philanthropist, Businessman, Cincinnatian

Charles Hixson Dater was born in Cincinnati in 1912. A brother, the only other child of Charles Henry Dater and his wife Ona, died as an infant 12 years before Charles was born.

Charles grew up in Northside and attended North Presbyterian Church. He graduated from the University of Cincinnati and pursued a master's in business administration at Harvard University. He served as an officer in the U.S. Army during World War II.

His father died when Charles was only 17 years old, and he was thrust into management of the family's holdings at an early age. After his mother died, his full-time focus became the family's investments and residential land development in Western Hills, where he lived in a modest three-bedroom ranch home. He died in 1993.

Many Greater Cincinnati institutions and charities benefited from his generosity through the years, both before and after the establishment of the Foundation; but Charles preferred that his gifts be anonymous and unrecognized.

He made the decision in the mid-1980s to establish a foundation to preserve the family's memory and to ensure that funding through grants for worthwhile community programs would continue.

The Dater family and its ties to Cincinnati dates back four generations. Charles's great grandfather, Adam Dater, emigrated from Germany and settled in Cincinnati in 1830. Hard work and business acumen were hallmarks of succeeding generations of Dater family members, who generously shared their success with their community. A Cincinnati high school and Montessori school are named in honor of Gilbert Dater, grandfather of Charles.
